VCT shares in your will

The following are possible practical steps VCT investors might take to minimise the time their shares are held in an estate after their death:

- Find all share certificates – sort out replacements if any missing. Please note the Registrar will charge fees for replacement share certificates
- Reduce number of share certificates by asking registrar to consolidate certificates. Please note the Registrar will charge fees for consolidating share certificates
- Ensure share certificates are kept in a safe place
- Ensure the executors know where the latest, most up to date version of your will is kept
